Estimate 1,700 U. S. Aircraft In Jap Attacks

Carrier Based Planes And
And B-29's In Two Pronged
Attack On Jap Home Islands

COMPLETE DETAILS OF RAIDS AWAITED

By JULIAN HARTT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

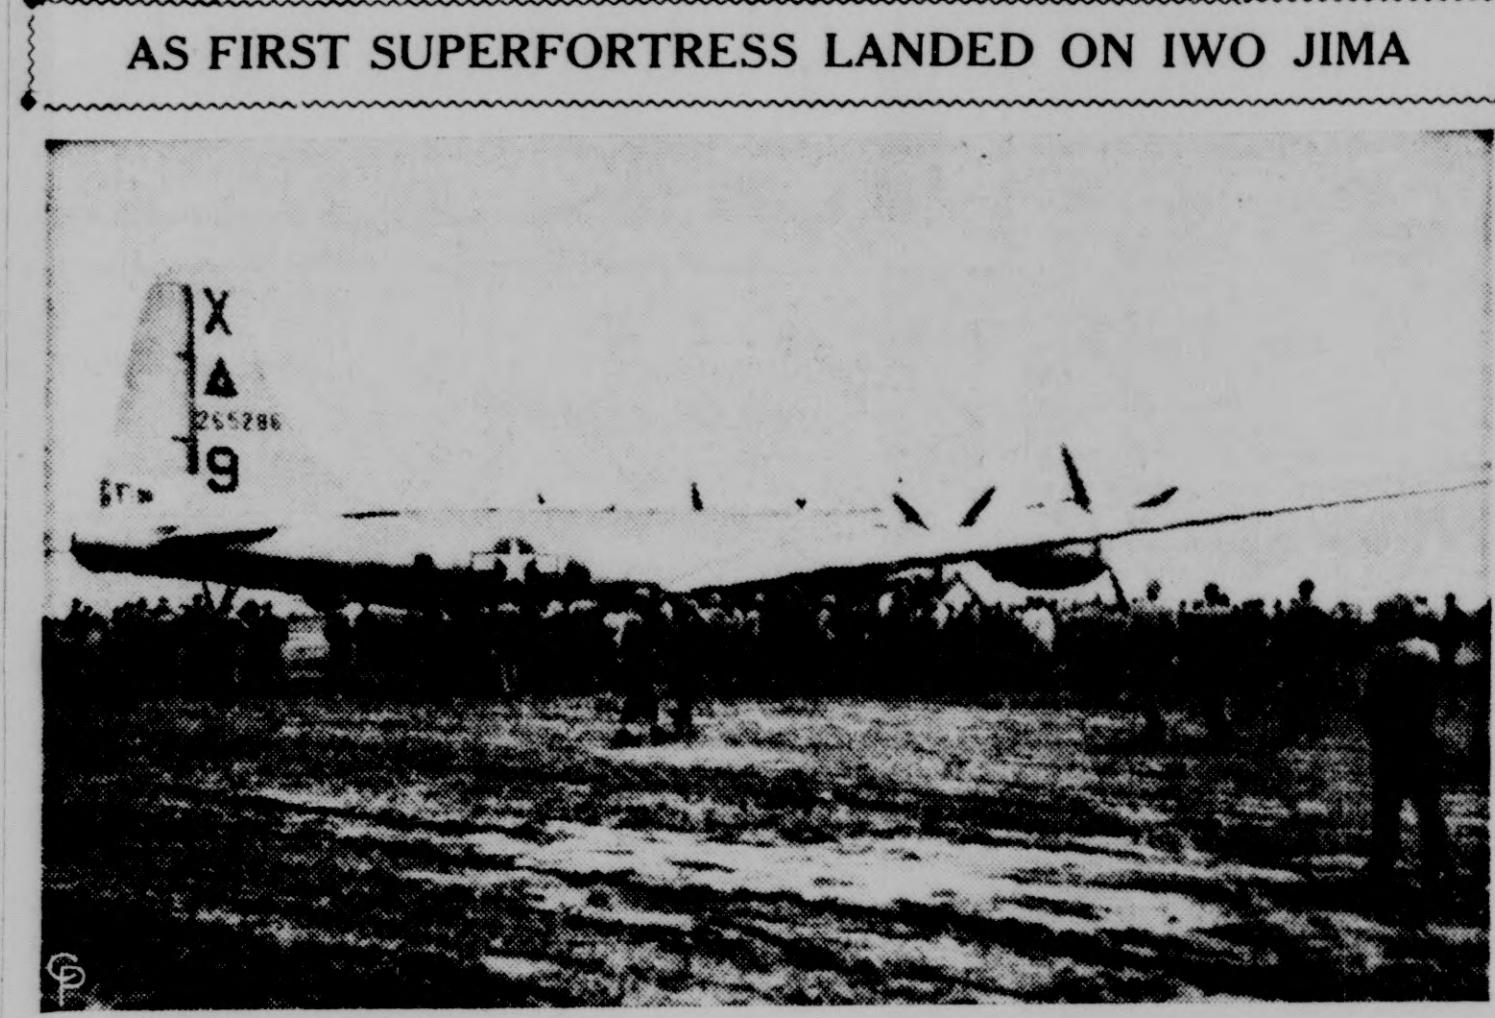

GUAM, March 19.—Powerful armadas of U. S. carrier planes and land-based giant Superfortresses—estimated by the enemy to total some 1,700 aircraft—left new swaths of destruction today across Nippon's industrially-crowded Honshu and Kyushu islands.

Still a third main island of Japan—Shikoku, between Honshu and Kyushu—was reported in an enemy broadcast to have been pounded from the air by planes of a huge American Pacific fleet task force which for the second successive day was mauling the Jap homeland.

Two-Pronged Strike

Details of the massive two-pronged strike were not immediately forthcoming from headquarters of the American forces on Guam though first crew-members returning from their second raid on Nagoya in six days provided the usual accounts of seeing large fires spring up in that industrial city Japan's third largest.

According to the Twenty-First Bomber Command headquarters, some 300 of the mammoth Superforts participated in the Nagoya assault. The Tokyo radio said that about 1,400 carrier planes staged the raids on Kyushu and Shikoku, but Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' (Continued on Page Two)

Excitement runs high as a huge Superfortress rolls to a stop on Motoyama airfield No. 1—the first B-29 to land on Iwo Jima. The craft found a haven on the island when it made an emergency landing after it had been damaged during a raid on major Jap industrial cities. Twenty-nine other Superforts also landed on Iwo for repairs or to refuel. Official Marine Corps photo.

New Surprise Amphibious Landing Is Made By Gen. MacArthur's Forces

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, March 19.—Units of the 138th regimental combat team, in a surprise amphibious landing on the east coast of Calumpang peninsula, today threatened Jap forces in lower Batangas province while far to the northeast Yank spearheads rammed into the enemy's Bosoboso river defenses.

The amphibious landing was made at Falaga, midway up the promontory which forms the western arm of Batangas Bay. From there, the Americans pressed northward some two miles to Mabini, key town on the east coast which had been threatened by another column moving from a westcoast beachhead.

Repulse Counter-Attack

In their advance, the troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur "easily repulsed" a Japanese counterattack around Mabini.

MacArthur's communiqué, which revealed the amphibious assault announced also that elements of the Sixth and 43rd divisions were "driving steadily through difficult terrain" east of Manila. The spearheads were said to be already in their earliest aircraft warnings on record today when they announced at 7:25 a. m. (2:25 a. m. E. W. T.) that a single fast bomber was "cruising in various directions over Muenstein and the northern Ruhr areas." The warning that formations of bombers were out came at 10 a. m. (5 a. m. E. W. T.).

To the south of these troops, other American forces were five miles east of Antipolo once the keystone of the shattered Antipolo-Wawa line.

Elsewhere on Luzon, 25th Division troops and 32nd Division elements moved from south and west to within three miles of Bailete Pass and a junction of the Villa Verde trail at Santa Fe. A Jap counter-thrust was crushed during the night.

Drop Explosives

Some 337 tons of high explosives were dropped on Japanese Bivacca and supply areas at Baguio, touching off explosions and fires.

Meanwhile, the invasion of Mindanao progressed with 41st Division tank-infantry teams moving forward.

J. H. GILFILLAN FOUND DROWNED

Body Of Local Man Missing For Month, Found In Shenango River Sunday Afternoon

Missing for the past month, the body of James H. Gilfillan, aged 67 years, of R. D. 3, Pulaski road, was found in the Shenango river a short distance from his home about a half mile north of the water plant by three men who were fishing Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He had been drowned. Coroner T. F. Nugent stated.

The report added that Danzig and Gdynia and the Baltic port of Zoppot were jammed with refugees from other towns and that "thousands of other Germans in Baltic coast localities are waiting for German vessels to evacuate them by sea."

Jammed With Refugees

Russian tanks and infantry were drawn up around the city less than six miles from the heart of the flaming town.

To the rear of the broad eastern front, in East Prussia, the Germans isolated east of Koenigsberg were being systematically ripped to pieces by troops of the third white Russian army who closed in tighter with the capture of 40 additional inhabited localities.

Despite stubborn resistance, the Soviet communiqué said, the "territory occupied by the enemy is diminishing daily" and now amounts to a coastal sector "insignificant in size."

Fierce fighting raged southeast of Braunsberg in the area of Koenigsberg, the town of Grunenfeld was taken. In one day's fighting, more than 3,000 Germans were killed and 19 tanks were destroyed.

ESTIMATE 1,700 U. S. AIRCRAFT IN JAP ATTACKS

headquarters had nothing to say to this other than to announce a "strong force" of the naval aircraft hit "enemy airbases and installations on Kyushu" on Sunday.

Japanese quarters said the attacks were resumed today, being directed also at Shikoku.

Boost Damage Estimates

Official but incomplete reports on previous Superfortresses strikes against Japan's main cities—of which there have been five in nine days—boosted estimates of damage inflicted on the enemy's key war industry centers.

The burned-out area of Osaka second city of Japan, is more extensive than previously estimated, thus bringing to 834 square miles the area scorched. Kobe, Nippon's greatest shipbuilding center, also suffered greater damage—3 more square miles having been flattened.

Most successful of the incendiary attacks, designed to burn out the heart of Japan's most important metropolitan areas, was the one which opened the current Superfortress incendiary campaign ten days ago. At that time Tokyo was hit with some 17 square miles of the capital left in blazing ruins.

Friends will be received at the R. L. Boyd funeral home this evening between 7 and 9 o'clock and funeral services will take place from the same place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First U. P. church.

REYNOLDS-BROWN WEDDING IN CHURCH

With simplicity as the keynote, the wedding ceremony performed Sunday afternoon, March 18, in the First Christian church was one of the loveliest of the season. Principals were Miss Althea Mae Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reynolds, Youngstown road, and Edward C. Brown, Luton street, son of the late William Brown.

In the presence of a gathering of close relatives and friends of the couple filling the church almost to capacity, vows were exchanged at 3:30 o'clock before the prettily decorated altar, baskets of flowers in tune with the season being artistically arranged.

Contributing further to the impressiveness of the occasion was the organ recital of nuptial selections played by Miss Emma Paxton, organist.

For her marriage the bride was attractive in her smartly tailored sapphire blue summer wool dressmakers suit. Her accessories were carried out in contrasting pink and she wore a shoulder corsage of single orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Reynolds, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants. She selected a wool jersey informal dress in ocean blue, with seagull gray accompaniments. Her shoulder bouquet was made up of pink camellias.

A congratulatory period at the rear of the church followed.

Afterwards, the bridal party and guests went to the Reynolds home for a reception. A buffet supper was served. Mrs. Edna Gibson, aunt of the bride, presided. Aides were Mrs. Clifford Lewis and Mrs. Ell Byler.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Brown departed on a brief trip, and upon returning will be "at home" to friends in their newly furnished apartment on Wallace avenue.

The bride was employed in the offices of the National Radiator company of New Castle until her resignation two weeks ago. The bridegroom is affiliated with the same company as a foreman.

Included in the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sewall of Niles, O., and Mr. and Mrs. William Henry, Ellwood City.

The couple, both well known among a wide circle of friends, have received a large array of wedding and shower gifts, which were displayed at the bride's home.

Ordeal By Fire

Millions of Japanese are undergoing ordeal by fire as fleets of American Superfortresses strew thousands of tons of incendiary bombs on their war production centers.

These successive blows are part of a systematic campaign to strike at the sources of Japan's military strength by burning out the cores of their industrial centers.

American bombs are setting fire to factory buildings, barracks, docks, warehouses and also to small shops, theaters, houses—everything inflammable in the chosen target districts. This is area bombing and the Japanese are beginning to pay a terrible price for their own recklessness and indiscriminate air attacks in China, in the East Indies, in the Philippines.

They are still not being subjected to the same tactics they initiated. American bombs are aimed at selected military targets. But they are getting a taste of their own medicine in doses carefully prescribed to take advantage of their wood and paper cities—and the doses are only the forerunner of worse to come.

Soldiers After War

Here are some interesting statistics on postwar aspirations gleaned from an Army poll of 598 veterans of the 41st Infantry Division—a division which has been in the Pacific for three years, with 20 months of combat duty from New Guinea to the Philippines:

One hundred eighty want to go back to their civilian jobs. 87 former students plan to return to their studies, 61 want to win college degrees under the "GI Bill of Rights." 34 intend to make the Army a career, 45 are going back to the farm, 12 former non-farmers want to till the soil. 36 former farm boys look forward to city work, 50 will take technical training for new jobs, and 93 are undecided.

And here is the final and most significant line in the dispatch from the Philippines reporting the results of the poll:

"None thought the world owes him a living as a civilian."

These 41st Division veterans are real soldiers. There can be no doubt about that. And there can be no doubt about this, either: They are real citizens. Postwar America will be safe in such hands as theirs.

The Mighty Oath

A German schoolmaster might be forgiven—though hardly—for failing to teach his boys that Germany is supreme, that the people of other countries are inferior to Germans, or even that might makes right. But he would lose his job, if not his head, if he failed to teach them the mighty German oath in the most haughtily prideful of all national songs, "The Watch on the Rhine."

Ninety years of Germans have brayed this boastful defiance at France and the western world. And never have they sung it with such pride and arrogance as when they came to the third verse:

"While flows one drop of German blood,

Or sword remains to guard thy flood,

While rifle rests in patriot hand—

No shall tread thy sacred strand."

But watches on the Rhine change. Hundreds of thousands of American boys have trod the sacred strand, and a million more are following them. The "Watch on the Rhine," now shown up as a screwy song at best, did not even last a hundred years, let alone a thousand.

It Isn't That Easy

Prosperity, on paper, is just one huge picnic.

The other day we heard a man telling his neighbor a story about it that went something like this:

"The government owns around nine hundred war plants. If after the war, each of them employs five thousand people, that will be 45 million jobs. Then we'll have a steady prosperity in this country."

Just like that! Easy as rolling off a log . . .

But an empty building, or even a building full of machinery, is not a business. You can't just put 5,000 workers into a building full of machinery and expect to have prosperity, forthwith. There are a thousand and-one other factors in the picture, as any man who has built a business will tell you.

Most American businesses, big or little, were started by some little fellow with a bit of money, a big idea, a capacity for suffering and overcoming ten thousand headaches, and the intestinal fortitude to fight five, ten or twenty years licking obstacles, building an organization, perfecting his product, and persuading hundreds of thousands—maybe millions—of people to like it and buy it.

The Load Of Ruin

It seems now that the physical destruction in Germany and Japan will surpass that anywhere else, with the possible exceptions of south-western Russia, Poland and parts of China. Artillery fire from ground fire continues to churn up the wreckage left by Allied bombings in Germany. Much of Germany may be destined to become a wasteland, so far as buildings are concerned. The Japanese indicate they will put up similar resistance when their homeland is invaded.

This is against the wishes of the Allied leaders. They would prefer to go into Germany and Japan with a minimum of destruction. But when a building holds lethal weapons manned by enemy soldiers, destruction of the building is the only course.

Wrecked parts of Russia will be ten years or more in the rebuilding. Poland faces a similar task. It is difficult to estimate how long non-industrial China will be in recovering. If the ruins of Germany and Japan are to exceed any of these, there will be depressive effects on whole continents, if not the world. The millions of people in stricken areas normally are economic assets in a trading world. In the midst of wreck and ruin they are a drawback.

In April, 1906, San Francisco had a great earthquake and fire that destroyed much of the city. Financial repercussions from that were partly responsible for the national panic of 1907. The world now is called upon to bear the load of many ruined cities.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Unspeakable Cruelties Of Gestapo Revealed

COLOGNE, March 19.—In yesterday's column, I tried to describe what the opening of a gestapo prison after the Americans took Cologne meant to the freed victims of the Nazis. Before their release, an American military detachment had worked almost continuously for two and a half days, sorting out the sick from those who could walk, trying to get the records of each individual straightened out and, in general, untangling the snarl left behind by the fleeing Germans.

The way in which the job was done made one feel confident of our capacity and proud of our humanity.

Captain J. W. Moreland of San Bernardino, Calif., was the medical officer in charge. He watched the last of the prisoners filed out of the grim red brick building, and his voice, as he spoke, was not quite steady.

Unspeakable Cruelties

For three days, with almost no sleep, he had seen the results of unspeakable gestapo cruelties. Working with him were Captain James G. Vanoot of Richmond, Va., and Corporal Abraham J. Levy of Los Angeles.

Typhus had begun to spread in the prison, and one of the first duties of the detachment was to try to check it. Fortunately, they had an ample supply of DDT powder, one of the war's great constructive discoveries, which kills insects almost instantly and yet does no harm to humans. As they sprayed the prisoners with the white, odorless powder, they said you could hear lice falling onto the papers spread on the floor. That may have been a slight exaggeration, but only slight.

The Americans who cleaned out the prison found whips with knotted thongs that had been used to beat prisoners. They found handcuffs fastened to a wall from which victims had been suspended. On a straw mattress in one cell, they found imprint of a body—head, torso, arms and legs—in blood. Apparently, this was where some man or woman had died after a beating.

Other Torture Instruments

"At gestapo headquarters in the heart of Cologne, not far from the Cathedral, they found other instruments of torture and the remains of a gallows where hangings took place. When I visited this building four days after the occupation, the bodies of some prisoners were still in the cells where they had been trapped in during the bombing and shelling of the city."

While one American detachment was cleaning out the prison, another was preparing a camp on the outskirts of Cologne for "displaced persons," which is the term applied to all allied citizens inside Germany. The only available place was a concentration camp, around which were barracks where slave laborers had been housed.

Here on the fifth day after the occupation, the Americans were segregating various nationalities. Among 550 persons already in the camp, there were nine different nationalities. This is a small example of the tremendous job of unscrambling which must be done as a result of the deliberate Nazi policy of confusing nationalities within the Reich.

Many Russian Girls

One day, Henry Ford said: "Have you ever noticed that the man who starts out in life with a determination to make money, never makes very much?"

It was rather a startling question but without waiting for a reply, he went on to answer it:

"He may gather together a competence, of course, a few tens of thousands. But he'll never amass a really great fortune. But let a man start out in life to build something better and sell it cheaper than it has ever been built or sold before. Let him have that determination and give his whole self to it and the money will roll in so fast that it will bury him if he doesn't look out."

When we were building our original model, do you suppose it was money we were thinking about? Of course, we expected that it would be profitable if it succeeded but that wasn't in front of our minds. We wanted to make a car so cheap that every family in the United States could afford to have one. So we worked mornings, noon and night until our muscles ached and our nerves were so ragged that it seemed as if we just couldn't stand to hear anyone mention the word "automobile" again.

"One night when we were almost at the breaking point, I said to the boys: 'Well, there is one consolation nobody can take this business away from us unless he is willing to work harder than we've worked.'

"And so far," included Henry Ford with a whimsical smile, "nobody has been willing to do that."

This reminds us of what Elbert Hubbard once said a long time ago:

"Those who never do more than they've paid for never get paid for more than they do."

It is much better to be an original jackass than an imitation lion.

The number of sides to a story is the number of people interested in cash.

Some of the best dividends are not cash.

The Red Cross works all over the world. It is always on the job where real help is needed.

It is claimed that modern girls will go without food and sleep but not without makeup.

The job of others seem softer than our own.

Luxuries usually cost twice as much as necessities.

I talked with a 23-year-old Dutchman, Hans Muder-Smid, who was seized in Amsterdam two years ago when he refused to work for the Germans. He said he had collapsed with typhus while working in a synthetic gasoline plant and had been sent to a hospital. Later, those who contracted typhus were simply allowed to die without hospitalization. "I was lucky," he said.

What all these people want to know is when they can go home, but, of course, no one has an answer to that yet. France, for example, has a food and unemployment problem, and is hardly in a position to take in any more dependents. In addition to the physical obstacles to repatriation, there is endless red tape to be unraveled.

But at least these people are no longer slaves. They are under the supervision of American officers who want to do everything they can to help them.

Less Cheerful

The Polish barracks were far less cheerful. Here were a mother, father and four daughters, all of whom had worked for a German farmer since their enslavement. A son had been carried off across the Rhine by the Germans when they fled.

Policies May Conflict At San Francisco

WASHINGTON, March 19—INS—There was a growing feeling in the state department today that the Dumbarton Oaks plan and the act of Chapultepec are headed for a collision at San Francisco.

Though the Mexico City conference is generally hailed as a great success, it is now realized that the principal product of that meeting—the act of Chapultepec—calls for action by the American republics which would violate the provisions of Dumbarton Oaks.

Not all experts in the state department are agreed on this point, but those who say there is a conflict insist that one document or the other must be modified if the San Francisco conference is to be a success.

All-important Issue

This camp of experts declares that the issue is the all-important question of which agency will have authority in case of a threat to the peace—the Pan American union or the United Nations organization.

The act of Chapultepec provides that the American republics will consult together and apply sanctions if necessary, in case of a threat to the peace of the hemisphere.

But the Dumbarton Oaks plan calls for recognizing regional organizations such as the Soviet pact with Czechoslovakia and France. The question must be answered in San Francisco, if not before, whether these pacts are to be subordinated to the new security organization.

In fact, the same issue is drawn with respect to other regional arrangements such as the Soviet pact with Czechoslovakia and France. The question must be answered in San Francisco, if not before, whether these pacts are to be subordinated to the new security organization.

Already, the French government has stated its desire that the pact with Russia shall stand alone and shall be allowed to operate immediately, in case of aggression against either power, without waiting for action by the United Nations organization.

This was the reservation which prevented France from joining the big four in sponsoring the San Francisco conference.

kind of manpower control bill at all.

Manpower legislation still must negotiate two major hurdles, and the hurdles appear to be growing higher. One is the Senate and the other is the conference committee of the House and Senate.

In the Senate there is a sharp cleavage between supporters of the Kilgore-O'Mahoney and May-Bailey bills. The conflict is such that some senators believe the Senate may kill manpower legislation.

But if the Senate passes the Kilgore-O'Mahoney bill, there is a conference committee of the House and Senate unless the administration accepts this bill which differs basically from the May-Bailey "work or jail" measure.

Of course, the problem could be solved by Senate passage of the May-Bailey bill. But the bill admittedly must come from behind to get through the Senate.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE

Although we have very few cases of diphtheria and smallpox, that only by constant vigilance that these diseases may be controlled.

They are always just around the corner. In Norway, the last year before the war, 1939, there were 70 cases of diphtheria with no deaths. In 1943 there were 22,000 cases and many deaths.

Only by continued care and watchfulness can these dangerous diseases be prevented.

Children should be protected from them at an early age. Locking the door after the house is stolen does not help much.

Senator Demands Curfew Enforcing In New York City

Should Either Lift Curfew In Nation Or Clamp Down On New York Mayor

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R) N. H., said on the floor of the Senate today that the midnight curfew on night clubs and places of amusement should be enforced in New York City or lifted for the country as a whole.

His statement was prompted by action of Mayor LaGuardia of New York in extending the curfew in that city to 1:00 a.m.

"War Mobilization Director Byrnes should either take immediate action with regard to New York City or he should lift the curfew for the nation as a whole," Bridges declared.

The New Hampshire senator said that LaGuardia's action constituted "open defiance" of the curfew order.

"The city of New York and Mayor LaGuardia are not bigger than the rest of the country," Bridges said.

"There is no excuse for one man, one mayor putting himself above the nation."

Bridges said he wanted to compliment mayors of other cities who are sticking to the Byrnes' 12 o'clock curfew.

Many seasoned duck hunters will be incredulous when told that an enemy fighter plane, coming in laterally at 300 miles an hour on a bomber traveling the same direction, must be trailed by the bomber's gunner instead of led. If it is to be shot down at 400 yards. The reason is, says Flying magazine, that the bullets would have the same forward speed as the bomber.

Council Refuses Division Of Tax Monies By Dodds

When council met this morning in formal session in the city hall, the body refused to accept what Solicitor Robert White told members was "an arbitrary division of tax monies made by County Controller Andrew Dodds". He charged Dodds had no authority to make an "arbitrary award" and advised the council to await a ruling by Lawrence county court.

Some time ago 164 properties were sold in the city at tax sales and the money was held by the county commissioners as trustee. Nevertheless, the city needed money and accepted a division of about $21,000, for the city's share.

Today Solicitor White said Controller Dodds now desires to turn over to the city about $3,500, as the city's share of 34 tax sales. White asserted the county commissioners, and not the controller, are required to make the division and not Dodds, in a certain way.

He said the matter is before the court of Lawrence county and advised the council to await the court's decision which the city controller asserted would be based on reasonableness and justice. Council adhered to his advice.

Truckers Have Ladies' Night

Annual Dinner Event Takes Place Saturday Night At The Castleton Hotel

For the sixth consecutive year the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association held its Ladies' Night Dinner Saturday night March 17, in The Castleton hotel. The crowd was limited to the capacity of the ball room and coral room and this had been sold out over a week ago.

The dinner decorations were done in the St. Patrick motif, the arrangements being done by Mrs. L. A. Pearless. Piecemeals were huge shamrocks and green runners ran the length of the tables. Clusters of American flags dotted the tables while the speakers' table was decorated with green carnations. Each of the ladies wore a green carnation also.

Charles E. McGrath, Chairman

Charles E. McGrath, former mayor of New Castle, was the general chairman of the evening. The invocation was given by Mrs. Harry L. Gormley, followed by one verse of "America" led by Al Bauman who also directed the pep singing during the dinner.

Edward Gogolin, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association was introduced and spoke upon the present and future for motor trucks. Mr. Gogolin cited a host of factual details as to the number of trucks, their importance in war time and the taxes paid. It was a clear presentation of the motor truck picture in the United States.

Burgess Carl T. Montgomery, of Bessemer, was the closing speaker. He spoke upon "The Meaning of Patriotism." Interspersing humor into an otherwise serious address Burgess Montgomery was well received.

State President Paul W. Keely and Chapter President J. Fred Clarke both extended greetings to the crowd but did not make any lengthy remarks. A telegram was read from Harry L. Gormley, former local and state president of the PMTA stating that he was unable to be present due to pressure of his office in Chicago. He is the Chicago regional director of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Door Prizes

Door prizes were given to nine fortunate ladies. This feature of the program was handled by Joseph Weinschenk, Al Bauman, and Walter McCormick. Paul W. Gealy, of the Navy was asked to draw the tickets.

Following the speaking program the tables were cleared and a five act floor show enjoyed. The entire evening was the usual PMTA success. The dinner was good, the program good, and the members were justified in announcing the 1946 dinner before the 1945 edition was completed.

Good Record In Easter Contest

Excellent Weather Of Sunday Aids In Attendance At Sunday School And Church

With ideal spring weather, yesterday's attendance of the Sunday schools participating in the eight week pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the County Sunday School association was the best to date, as a number of Sunday schools had a larger attendance than Easter Sunday of last year.

The five leading Sunday schools of the First, New Castle group had the total points for the day of 699, which was unusual. These points were distributed in order as follows: Second U. P., 127; First Presbyterian, 166; Highland U. P., 155; First Baptist, 145; and Third U. P., 106.

The most outstanding gains for yesterday were made by the First Presbyterian and the Highland U. P., both splendidly organized with constructive plans. By having its best attendance the First Presbyterian gained on the first place. Second U. P.'s and the Highland U. P. is right after the First Presbyterians in third place. This group seems to be the most generally active of the four New Castle groups.

JAPANESE MAKE USUAL CLAIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio said today Japanese aircraft were carrying out "aerial battles" with American carrier planes raiding southern Japan for the second straight day, and claimed that 14 ships in the task force on which the planes were based had been sunk or damaged by Japanese fliers.

The noon broadcast declared that the planes had been raiding southern Kyushu, Shikoku and the southeast coast of Honshu since 5:30 a.m. and asserted that "intercepting battles" were continuing in each area as of that time.

The domestic broadcast, recorded by the FCC, said the attacking aircraft "came in wave formations in separate groupings."

The broadcast claimed that one aircraft carrier, one battleship, "one battleship, large-sized cruiser or carrier," and two destroyers had been sunk, and that nine warships, "of which seven were aircraft carriers and two of unidentified type," had been "heavily damaged."

"Besides these war results," it declared, "more than 10 separate columns of fire were seen emanating from various other enemy warcraft."

A Japanese imperial headquarters communiqué on the carrier aircraft raids later verified the Tokyo radio's report that the raids were continuing today but cut down its claims of damage inflicted on the task force, which it placed "southeast of Kyushu."

In such cases, the glass curtains should be full length, and the draperies floor length. Glass curtains should never drape on the floor, even when used with draperies that do. In that case, the curtains should just clear the floor.

Declares Japs Fight Harder

Marine Leader Says Battle Against Jap Ground Forces Grows Harder

By RAY B. JORDAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU, March 19.—Lieut. Gen. Holland M. Smith, whose gallant marines just completed capture of strategic Iwo Jima, arrived today from that bloody little island with the blunt warning the fight against Japanese ground forces is just beginning.

Citing several paramount reasons for this observation, reached despite the final American success on Iwo Jima emphasized to International News Service that the Japs are learning fast to correct their past mistakes.

The Japanese are getting harder to whip all the time, the fighting marine general said, adding:

"God knows, they are tough enough now, especially at Iwo Jima. But they are going to be tougher as we go along."

Emphasizing that Iwo was the hardest fight which the marines had in the 168 years of the corps' existence, Smith declared that the Japs are getting much smarter in every way.

Getting Smarter

"They have learned," he said, "to stop staging their banzai charges and that's bad, because we used to love to catch them coming in that way. They are learning all kinds of things by experience and each of the things they learn makes it harder for us to wipe them out."

Smith explained that two of the reasons which the leathernecks found made Iwo such a tough nut to crack were:

1—There were more and better defenses than anticipated, and

2—There were more defenders than expected.

"Lots of the gun emplacements and coast defenses we didn't have on our maps," the general said.

"And, also, there were several thousand more people on the island than we expected."

Then shaking his head with satisfaction, Smith concluded:

But they all are dead now!"

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

ADMIRAL MITSCHER
(International News Service)

Japanese reports that thousands of carrier-based U. S. planes again are raiding Kyushu Island, although unconfirmed by official sources, probably means that Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's mighty task force 58 is on the prowl.

The tough, lean admiral commands the biggest task force in the world, a greater aggregation of battleships, it is said, than comprised some pre-war navies. Mitscher's brilliant success with this fast, hard-hitting combination of battleships and carriers has long since proved the value of such a group.

It was Mitscher, with his long-visored baseball cap pushed back on his head, who first hit the Jap Pearl Harbor at Truk with task force 58. Later the important Jap bases in the Marianas were hit, and only three weeks ago Tokyo itself came under the pounding of thousands of planes for the first time when the 58 group steamed up to the approaches of the Nipponese mainland.

Born in Hillsboro, Wis., on Jan. 26, 1877, Mitscher was appointed to Annapolis from Oklahoma. Oklahoma City has been his home ever since, although he rarely is free to enjoy it. In 1913 he married the former Frances Smalley of Tacoma, Wash. They have no children.

Movie Strike Shows What Is Wrong With Labor Unions Now

OMAHA, March 19.—(INS)—Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture and radio producer, described the strike in the moving picture industry in Hollywood as "a wonderful example of the mistakes a movement can make to defeat itself."

DeMille, in Omaha as a guest of Union Pacific President William Jeffers at a St. Patrick's Day party Saturday said that the moving picture producer "stands by perfectly helpless while the bones are being dragged from side to side of the labor arena by two labor factions."

He added that "if it wasn't so tragic, it would be funny."

DeMille said that political freedom for the working man would only be accomplished when the state legislatures and the congress act to control actions of labor unions.

"The paralyzing strike," he said, "is the best example of what is wrong with labor unions."

New Rumor Crop Develops Over Past Weekend

LONDON, March 19.—(INS)—A new crop of entertaining rumors—including one that Adolf Hitler was hiding out somewhere with a harem of blonde women—started the rounds over the week-end, the London Daily Herald said today in a dispatch from Stockholm.

The herald rumor was to the effect that this was no flight of fancy on the part of der fuhrer. On the other hand, it was described as a serious business, in which Hitler was seeking to provide himself with an heir to carry on his work in the next generation.

Another romantic but less interesting rumor said that the Nazi chief was about to marry the sister of his chief medical adviser, Professor Brandt.

A third said that Hitler had retreated to Berchtesgaden to prepare a defense against charges that he is a war criminal.

New peace rumors alleged that Hitler was prepared to hand over Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Reichsmarshall Herman Goering on the condition that peace discussions would commence thereafter, and that Franz Von Papen, former ambassador to Turkey, would ask Catholic Bishop Presby in Berlin to speak to the Vatican about calling for an armistice for the discussion of peace terms.

Before enlisting in the WAC, she was a Nurses Aide at Jameson Memorial hospital.

Batteries Scarcer, Motor Club Warns

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—In a warning that there will be a cut in automobile battery production to about 60 per cent of last year, the Pittsburgh Motor club advised car owners to give their car batteries the best care possible.

Automobile batteries as they are sold are extremely perishable, the club admonished, and cannot be kept long without use.

The reason given for the drastic cut in the amount of lead that can be added to automotive battery manufacture is the unexpected tremendous step-up in small arms production.

In 1940, less than two-thirds of one per cent of the white population of this country in the age group 25 to 29 years had never attended school.

New Castle Man Home On Furlough After Ship Sinking

Stephen Schuster Was In Water Three Hours Before Being Rescued After Ship Sank

Imagine your embarrassment if while you were taking a shower bath, you suddenly felt the whole house sinking under you. It happened to Water Tender Stephen Schuster except that the house was the airplane carrier "Omniway Bay" and it happened in the waters around the Philippines.

It was just at mess time and Mr. Schuster was taking a shower to refresh himself before eating. While he was in the shower room one of his mates looked in and yelled, "let's go Steve, the ship has been hit."

Without stopping to put any clothes on, Mr. Schuster got to the deck and went over the side along with the other men of the crew. For three hours he was in the water when he was rescued.

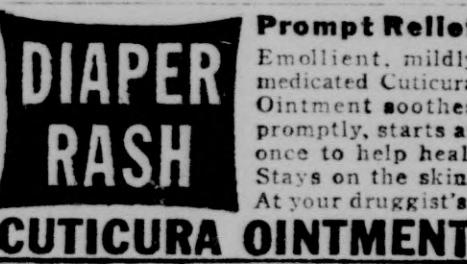

Mr. Schuster has been in the navy but one year but he has five battle stars on his campaign ribbons. Three of the stars are on the recently awarded Philippine bar. At Leyte, Lingayen Gulf and Mindoro, he was engaged in the battles and prior to that had been in two other engagements.

He is home on a furlough before going to sea again, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Schuster of Howard Way.

PLENTY OF EGGS

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—There will be no shortage of eggs in Pittsburgh for Easter. Maurice Shaper, head of the egg department of the Jersey Farm Products company, said.

According to Shaper, there are 8,000 cases of eggs in storage in Pittsburgh and half million cases in reserve throughout the United States. He said with the warm weather the production is becoming stronger daily.

PENNSYLVANIANS BOAST OF STATE

(Special To The News)

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Pacific Ocean Areas—Proudly boasting of the virtues and accomplishments of the State of Pennsylvania, an officer and 17 enlisted men of a field hospital in the Pacific Ocean Areas consistently impress their buddies that their home state was the "Keystone" of the 13 original colonies, and they don't fail to mention the galaxy of gridiron stars that hail from the Quaker state, either.

Among these Keystoneans is Cpl. Andrew Baka, Jr., of New Castle, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Jones of Miller avenue have received word from their son, Pfc. John W. Jones, of the medical corps in France, stating a citation for award of the merit ribbon service plaque was made to the ninth evacuation hospital somewhere in France, supporting the sixth and seventh armies, of which Pfc. Jones is a member. Pfc. Jones has been in the service 4½ years and overseas 30 months. He was formerly employed at Sears, Roebuck Co. here.

A member of the navy nurse corps since last August, Ensign Helen Jane Dudzinsky (NO) USNRR, 312 East Lutton street, is now on duty at the U. S. naval hospital, Sampson, N. Y. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dudzinsky, and was formerly at the Youngstown hospital.

Sgt. and Mrs. William B. Newton are visiting with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton, of 1020 Adams street. Sgt. Newton is on furlough from Camp Maxey, Tex. He is attached to the Infantry corps.

Having recovered at a U. S. Army hospital in England from shrapnel wounds received near Fay, France, on November 22, 1944, Sgt. Stephen S. Smosar, 28, 1605 Hanna street, has been released for return to duty, according to word received from his hospital. Attached to an infantry unit, he has been in the army since December 7, 1937. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Smosar, live at the above address.

Pvt. Attanasio Nicholas Isolda, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Isolda, 613 Raymond street, and Pvt. William Amerigo Guiducci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Giuseppe Guiducci, 1106 Butler avenue, have reported to Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., to take tests to determine their qualifications as pre-aviation cadets.

William H. Crowe, seaman 2-c, has returned to Sampson, N. Y., following a 7-day leave here after completing boot training at Sampson naval training station. He visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Crowe of 109 South Jefferson street.

Cpl. Domenick L. Pecano, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Pecano, 18 North Wayne street, and husband of Mrs. Carlotta Pecano, 203 East Cherry street, has just been promoted to that rank at the headquarters of the Second Tactical Air Division at Stuttgart Army Air Field, Arkansas.

Marine Second Lt. Paul Chifman, son of Mrs. Rose Chifman, 103 West Garfield avenue, has graduated from the motor class of the Infantry schools battalion at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, after six weeks training.

Military Musicians Play Here Saturday

Infantry Concert Group To Appear,
Sponsored By War Finance Committee And Guild

Through the cooperation of the war finance committee and the Metropolitan Concert Guild, New Castle will hear an outstanding military musical unit Saturday night, March 24, in the Cathedral without any admission price or collections.

The Infantry Concert Group, a regular army musical organization which consists of former nationally known symphony orchestra musicians will appear in the Cathedral auditorium at 8 o'clock and the program includes everything from light popular numbers to the heavier compositions of Debussy, Rimsky-Korsakoff and Strauss. The entire performance lasts about one hour and 45 minutes.

The Infantry Concert Group was originally formed by Brig. Gen. Hume Penobsky, then commanding Army air forces tactical air center. Its members were routed from camps all over the country, and among them are men whose names meant something to the symphony orchestras in New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Minneapolis, Boston and other cities before the war.

By a fortunate break in the itinerary of the Infantry Concert Group, New Castle was enabled to get the date of Saturday night, March 24. Few cities in this district have been so fortunate and the Cathedral auditorium should be packed to hear these military artists.

Many Jap Ships
Sunk In Pacific
By British Subs

LONDON, March 19.—(INS)—British submarines of the far east fleet have sunk a total of 274 Japanese ships in enemy-controlled waters during the last eight months, the admiralty announced today.

The official announcement said the figure included both warships and supply vessels and did not take into account the "many others" which were hit by gunfire, driven ashore or otherwise damaged by submarine attack.

Tokyo radio, heard by the FCC, said today that a group of enemy submarines had been seen moving northward from waters off Indo-China and had penetrated into the China sea area.

"The enemy broadcast stated that "to cope with this situation our air forces based on the continent are preparing to blockade the activities of the enemy crafts by taking strict vigilance."

Pfc. Johnson was attached to the infantry corps of General Patton's Third Army. He has been in the service about 22 months, and overseas since July.

Save That Paper For Next Saturday

Waste Paper Collection March 24
Gives You Start On Spring
Housecleaning

So you're getting started on house-cleaning? The first thing to do is get rid of all those old magazines, newspapers, books, wrapping paper and boxes you have around the house. But don't burn them. Save them until next Saturday when the monthly waste paper collection will be held.

This month's collection is for the Y. W. C. A. camp fund and your paper does double duty. The shortage of paper gets worse instead of better and the war effort needs thousands of additional tons of cartons and paper products. About the only way to partially fill the need is through waste paper.

If other cities extend the midnight deadline?" Samuel Haftel, secretary of the Cafe Owners Guild, said, "possibly Philadelphia will follow suit."

Across the Delaware New Jersey State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commissioner Alfred E. Driscoll condemned the mayor's action as "an apparent attempt to substitute government by the whim of a man."

SYNTHETIC TIRES

The use of rayon cord in synthetic tires for trucks has been found to more than triple the performance of the tire, while nylon cord used in airplane tires doubles strength without increasing size.

Allegheny County Coroner Presents Safety Warnings

Gives Number Of Home Precautions
To Be Observed In Interest Of Citizens Who Want To Live

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—Dr. William D. McClelland, coroner for the County of Allegheny forwarded to us his annual report of accidental deaths for the year 1944. Referring to home accidents Dr. McClelland has this to say:

"The report for this year shows that the home is still the scene of most fatal accidents. During the past twelve months 245 deaths occurred due to accidents in the home as a result principally of falls, burns, taking of poison by mistake, carbon monoxide poisoning from unsafe gas units, and asphyxiation by gas fumes. Too much stress cannot be laid upon the necessity for a strict compliance by all of us to the simple precautions prescribed by our safety organizations and public officials so that this great loss of life may be prevented."

"Many time during my administration as coroner I have publicly advocated strict adherence to several suggestions for the protection of human life in the home, which I will again repeat:

- All gas connections should be regularly inspected to avoid gas leaks.
- All gas burning instruments should have flues regularly inspected to prevent accumulation of deadly monoxide gas.

Stairways, area ways and stair landings should be kept clear and well lighted.

Electrical fixtures, lights equipment and cords should be regularly inspected to insure secure connections, adequate insulations and avoid fire-starting short circuits and power interruptions.

Never touch electric wire or connection while your hands are wet or while you are standing in or near water.

Never smoke in bed. Before taking that cigarette down make certain it is out.

Do not allow newspapers or waste paper to accumulate at or near fires. It is a dangerous habit.

Do not stand close by an open fireplace, either gas or coal burning, that does not have screen protection.

Store Sodium Fluoride (roach powder) in a place separate from flour, corn starch, etc. and mark its container plainly with the label "POISON," so that it may not be used by mistake for edible purposes.

Have the flues and hoods inspected before starting your furnace.

Use great care in handling any cleaning fluids and other inflammable materials.

Keep all medicines properly labeled and out of the reach of small children.

Keep all pots and pans on stove turned so that handles do not extend beyond edges of the stove.

All gas connections should be regularly inspected to avoid gas leaks.

All

gas burning instruments should have flues regularly in-

Quarantine For Japanese Beetles

HARRISBURG, March 19.—(INS)—All of Pennsylvania except some townships in northwestern tier will be under a six-month quarantine designed to curb the migration of Japanese Beetles starting April 1, the Department of Agriculture reported today.

Forty-one townships in Berks, Lehigh, Dauphin, York, Lebanon and Cumberland counties were added to the list of heavily-infested areas. Shipments of flowers, fruits and vegetables from the quarantined areas will be prohibited without a certificate of inspection from state or federal officers.

The addition of the 41 townships virtually blacked out all of Pennsylvania on the map marking the migration of Japanese Beetles.

Rafferty Again Defeats Hagg

New York Miler For Third Time Defeats Gunder Hagg In Chicago Race Saturday

CHICAGO, March 19.—(INS)—Jimmie Rafferty of the New York A. C. remained king today at the mile distance as the result of his third straight defeat of Gunder Hagg, the imported flash of speed from Sweden.

Rafferty's third triumph over Hagg on the Swedish star's current visit to the United States came in the 18th running of the Bankers Mile, the feature event of the Chicago relays. Saturday night at the Chicago stadium.

Hagg Improving

The verdict today was that Hagg's form gradually has improved since his recent arrival in America after a 23-day ocean voyage and that he is adapting himself to the indoor board tracks. In his first test, in the East he ran last. In the second, he ran fifth.

In the latest, the Bankers' Mile he ran second and finished only five yards behind Rafferty whose time of 4:13.7 was his second best of the indoor campaign. It was Rafferty's eighth consecutive win in the mile.

Gunder forced the pace for five laps and only Rafferty's brilliant burst of speed on the final lap kept the lanky Swede from his first indoor triumph. Rudy Simms of the New York Pioneer club finished third, Tommy Quinn of the New York A. C. fourth, and Bob Hume of the University of Michigan fifth.

STOCK MARKET BARELY STEADY

Few Stocks Advance But Most Of Big Stocks Are Irregular This Morning

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—Stocks were barely steady this morning as leading issues met resistance from profit takers. A few rails and aviations advanced on selective buying but most of the big stocks were irregular.

Trading volume in the first hour totalled 170,000 shares.

Carrriers were highlighted by a spurt of Missouri-Kansas and Texas common which sold at 8%, up 8%.

Sante Fe picked up more than a half. Air transport issues were strong. American Airlines advanced 1% to 48. United Air Lines added a small fraction.

Bethlehem Steel and U. S. Steel lost ground. A small decline in General Motors was offset by a gain in Chrysler. International Telephone dipped a half. American Smelting, Montgomery Ward, Standard Brands and Dome Mines eased. The bond market was quiet and steady. Curb stocks were mixed.

Navy Faces Task Of Fixing Pay For Civilians Interned

Pay Status Of 10,000 Pre-Pearl Harbor Employees Must Now Be Determined

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(INS)—The Navy, as a result of the liberation of the Philippines, faced the task of finding and determining the pay status of 10,000 pre-Pearl Harbor civilian employees who were interned by the Japanese.

Charged with this job is a group of officers and enlisted men which recently left Washington for Guam and the Philippines.

Their task is to find the former civilian employees, some of whom have been moved to camps in the Japanese homeland and will, for a while, be out of reach. About 250 are American citizens.

All are entitled to benefits under the Missing Persons Act of March, 1942, which provides that Navy employees captured or interned by the enemy are entitled to the same pay and allowances to which they were entitled at the beginning of their captivity. For many, this will mean more than three years back pay.

In the case of those who died during their imprisonment, the payments due them will be paid to their beneficiaries. When the accounts have been settled reemployment will be offered where it is practical and those who were recruited in the United States will be furnished transportation home.

Most of those involved worked at the Cavite Navy Yard, ammunition depot, or hospital establishments located in the Philippine area.

The unit is led by Cmdr. Glenn F. Brewton of Takoma Park, Md., assisted by Capt. William E. Williams of Union, Mo.

NASSAU, Bahamas—The Duke of Windsor, explaining his resignation as governor of the Bahamas after nearly five years: "I am a great traveler. This is the longest time I ever spent in one place."

Pittsburgh Not Likely To Follow New York's Lead

PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Prospects of the Pittsburgh district falling in line with Mayor LaGuardia in moving back the curfew an hour, seemed scant today with WMC Director Patrick T. Fagan's terse remark that the New York mayor "probably was talking through his big hat."

Fagan, in charge of enforcement of the curfew in Pittsburgh, said that the only modification of the curfew in the steel city has been to permit restaurants catering to late-shift war workers to apply to the WMC for exemption from the curfew. The WMC head also pointed out that if New York is allowed to modify the directive, the hour could not be changed in Pennsylvania until Gov. Edward Martin rescinded a proclamation prohibiting liquor sales after midnight.

Gen. Arnold Sees Early Ruin Of All Jap War Plants

MIAMI, March 19.—(INS)—Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the United States Air Forces, predicted that Japan's industries will be bombed out in less time than required to ruin Germany's war plants.

Arnold made his statement in his first public appearance in more than a month, during which he recuperated from an illness which prohibited him from attending the Crimea conference as a member of President Roosevelt's staff.

For the first time since it was announced in Washington early in February that Gen. Arnold would take a rest in an Army Air Force hospital, disclosure was made that the Army Air Force regional and the general has been resting at station hospital at the former Biltmore hotel in Coral Gables.

Present with General Arnold when he greeted reporters was Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding general of the Allied Air Forces in the Far East, who had arrived from the southwest Pacific to make his annual report in the progress of the war in that theatre.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT FOR ONCE

HOPEWELL, Pa., March 19.—(INS)—A tribute to the courage and patient planning of America's jungle fighters was written by Pfc. Donald Eliechberger, of Hopewell, Pa., with a small patrol wiped out 22 Japanese without any loss on our side.

For several days the Jap camp was scouted by reconnaissance men and a mock attack was practiced until letter perfect. When the actual assault was carried out, the sleeping Japs were ambushed with such swiftness that not a single one managed to escape.

Fombell Flier Awarded D.F.C.

Lt. Lloyd Boots, Missing In Action, Honored For Skill In Vienna

(Special To The News)

WITH THE 15TH AAF IN ITALY—First Lt. Lloyd O. Boots, Fombell, Pa., who is now reported missing in action, flew more than 15 rough missions since August 22, 1944, when he took part in the attack over Vienna, Austria, but his actions in that raid have not been forgotten. The Pennsylvania flier recently received the distinguished flying cross for his part in the mission.

A few minutes before reaching the target, the bomber formation was attacked by 25 to 30 German fighter planes, and with no American fighter escort available, Lt. Boots demonstrated exceptional skill in piloting his B-24 Liberator, "Boots and His Buddies", so that his gunners were able to employ the most accurate fire against the fighters, and were credited with the destruction of four of the enemy planes.

To add to his troubles, the No. 2 engine of his bomber was knocked out by a direct hit, making level formation flying difficult, and severe anti-aircraft fire damaged all interphone and radio equipment and severed several control cables.

Despite the crippled condition of his plane, Lt. Boots completed a successful bomb-run over the target, kept his position in the formation and returned home without injury to any member of his crew.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Boots, RD 1, Fombell, Lt. Boots is credited with 30 missions since he was sent to Italy last June.

New York Extends Closing Hour For Night Clubs, 1 A.M.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(INS)—New York's great white way, with a slight time of curfew mourning around the edges, awoke today with a little more hangover than usual.

Pop—just like the cork flying that almost came from France—almost before the curfew, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia yesterday notified New York's night clubs and bar rooms that the closing hour arbitrarily has been extended from midnight to 1 a.m.

This defiance of a national edict by request was accepted by some government agencies as the death knell of the curfew's knell.

Enforcement is left to local police and a possible nation-wide uprising against the Washington directive of 20 days ago that Mayor LaGuardia in his weekly broadcast yesterday declared unworkable for New York, was foreseen.

In defiance of War Mobilizer James Burns and everybody else in Washington that he calls by his first name, Mayor LaGuardia complained into his microphone that the curfew "has caused great transportation jams in New York, has led to many evils such as too rapid drinking and has created a ten-deney for unlawful liquor sales."

His "hour of tolerance" was halted by the great white way, otherwise known as the trail of boob traps, as a salvation, as they eyed the service men and New York's thousands of daily visitors who heretofore have been thrown out into the street at midnight with no place to go and no way to get there.

SHIP PRODUCE BY AIR PITTSBURGH, March 19.—(INS)—Pittsburghers today awaited the air-borne cargo of produce from California.

The shipment, consisting of three tons of asparagus, was picked late yesterday, loaded on a plane this morning and was scheduled to arrive in the Smoky City tomorrow. Twelve to 14 days would be required to move the cargo over the usual routes, it was explained.

REPORT APPOINTMENT HARRISBURG, March 19.—(INS)—

The governor's office was silent today on reports that Lt. Gov. John

C. Bell, Jr., had been offered an $18,000 a year judgeship on the state superior court by Gov. Edward Martin.
